

Defects Held At Fault In Plane Crash

Elizabeth, N. J. (AP) — A combination of engine failure and a rare propeller system defect caused the crash of a DC16 airliner Monday with the loss of 32 lives, the Civil Aeronautics board indicated yesterday.

Joseph O. Fluet, chief CAB regional investigator, said preliminary findings showed the right in-board propeller of the four-engine national airlines ship was reversed, a condition not normal in flight.

In Washington the Civil Aeronautics Administration ordered a change in wiring connections of all DC-6 transport planes.

The change consists of taking the control wire for the reversible propeller mechanism out of the bundle of wires leading to the engines and putting it into a separate conduit to eliminate any possibility of "shorting."

Fluet said the right outboard propeller of the crashed plane was feathered, or tuned edge-on to the slipstream. This is done when an engine fails in flight, in order to reduce the drag of the idle propeller.

This would indicate the outboard engine at least had failed, Fluet hinted to newsmen at a news conference.

He said the reversal of a propeller in flight is extremely unusual.

Ordinarily, the pitch of the propellers is reversed to act as a brake only when the plane is on the ground making its landing run.

Reversal does not mean that the direction of rotation of the propeller is changed, he said. It means the pitch of the propeller blades is reversed so that the propeller has a pushing effect instead of a pulling effect.

This is sometimes used to slow down the ship after it lands. The weight of the ship resting on the ground actuates a switch which allows the propellers to be reversed, Fluet said.

When the ship is in flight and the weight off the wheels, he added, a locking mechanism is supposed to go into effect to prevent propeller reversal.

The combination of these conditions—both in the right engines—caused the ship to yaw violently to the right, Fluet said, and lose flying speed. The National Airlines plane crashed into an apartment house far to the right of its normal course.

All three crewmen were killed, but stewardess Nancy Taylor and more than half of the passengers survived. The plane had 63 aboard, of whom 28 died. Four persons in the apartment house also were killed.

In East Hartford, Conn., United Aircraft Corp., manufacturer of the DC-6's propellers, said investigation by its own technicians gave "no indication that the propellers, themselves, were defective."

State Seeks To Keep Mills Open

Harrisburg (AP)—The State Commerce department planned ways yesterday to halt the shutdown of hosiery mills in the Reading area.

A department spokesman said the agency is preparing plans for a meeting with Reading industrial and labor groups to look into the mill closings.

Three full-fashioned hosiery mills in the area have announced liquidation plans within the past month, affecting some 1,450 workers.

The department spokesman said part of the hosiery industry's difficulty in the northern states has been due to "growing competition from southern states."

The best approach to the problem, the spokesman said, is a co-operative study by all groups concerned, both on the local and state level.

Byrd Demands $9 Billion Cut In U. S. Budget To Prevent 'Destruction Of Our Currency'

Washington (AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) last night demanded a cut of nearly nine billion dollars in President Truman's $85,444,000,000 budget to avert "destruction of our currency and chaos."

The Virginia legislator declared the reductions he proposed for the fiscal year starting July 1 could be even greater "if we had sympathetic leadership by the Chief Executive."

In a detailed study he entitled "The Byrd Budget," the senator called on Congress to make cuts in all categories of the President's version except in the case of interest payments.

Byrd recommended elimination of 2 1/2 billion dollars he said was earmarked for economic aid abroad, and he said military aid to friendly foreign nations should total no more than $7,900,000,000 as compared with eight billion

Unusual Request Accompanies Gift Of $3,422 To Library From S. M. Schoonover Estate

The Stroudsburg Board of School Directors received a check for $3,422.56 last night from the estate of Samuel M. Schoonover.

The check was presented by the First-Stroudsburg National Bank, trustees of the Schoonover estate.

Schoonover stipulated, in his will, that the money should be used "for the benefit of the school library."

There was only one other stipulation.

According to Schoonover's will the school library must contain "ten copies of 'Ten Nights in a Barroom' at all times."

Stroudsburg school directors today will set out to find ten copies of the book.

Rites Take Place Today For Monarch

London, Friday, (AP)—Britain buries George VI at Windsor castle today with the trappings and works of ancient ritual climaxing 10 days of mourning since the monarch's death.

The last somber journey from London to the old seat of Britain's kings was set to begin from Westminster hall at 9:30 a. m. London time (4:30 a. m. EST), only a few hours after the great iron-studded doors clang shut on the public lying-in-state of the dead sovereign.

Up to midnight, 283,394 persons had filed by the purple-covered catafalque which for three days has held aloft for public homage the closed coffin with the body of "George the Good."

Lines were still forming outside. Authorities were permitting the public to pass through the hall until 6 a. m.

The reigning Queen Elizabeth II, unnoticed by the thousands streaming in homage past the bier, stood silently for 10 minutes obscured in a shadowy doorway of the great hall last night, joining in the people's reverent farewell to her father.

She came in a surprise visit to the hall just after nightfall with her sister, Princess Margaret, and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Shortly before midnight, the widowed Queen Mother Elizabeth also visited Westminster hall on a pilgrimage of sorrow.

Leaning wearily against the doorway, she watched the procession filing by for 20 minutes. Her face pale but calm and controlled, she kept a steady gaze on the catafalque.

Before she left, she slowly bowed her head as if in ending a prayer.

She was dressed in black, with a diamond clip, and wore a wide-brimmed hat.

The crowds continued to move through the night with a ghostly hush through this capital.

The entire center of this city of nearly 9,000,000 people—including such famous traffic arteries as Piccadilly, Pall Mall, Park Lane, Hyde Park corner—was sealed off with barricades for the funeral procession this morning.

Traffic on 122 thoroughfares in the city was closed by police as Big Ben boomed midnight.

Thousands of people, talking in whispers, moved about. Others squatted in doorways and under trees for shelter from the rain and the wind, to hold their vantage points for the London procession from the hall to Paddington railway station for the train journey taking the King's body 21 1/2 miles west to Windsor, where the funeral will start at 2 p. m. (9 a. m. EST).

Some of the crowds came with sleeping bags, vacuum bottles with hot liquids, and with sandwiches.

Other thousands are expected to line the narrow roads from the railway to the castle to watch the King's last journey.

Inside St. George's chapel, a vault before the altar will receive the coffin as the Anglican prayer of committal is intoned:

"Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust; in sure and certain hope of resurrection to eternal life."

Family Of Four Perishes In Fire

Somerville, Mass. (AP)—A family of four perished last night in a general alarm fire which destroyed four tenement buildings in the densely-populated Sullivan Square section.

The dead were identified by police as Anthony Carroaro, 52, his wife, Eva, 35; a son Richard, 5, and a daughter, Jeanette, 2 1/2.

A fireman, Richard McDevitt, 47, suffered burns over 50 per cent of his body and was in critical condition in Massachusetts General hospital, Boston.

Sen. Williams Bares Alleged Tax Fraud

Washington (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del) said on the Senate floor yesterday a 636,000 government tax bill against a Midwest brewing company was changed to a $35,000 refund after former U. S. Tax Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan Jr. got a special permit to represent the firm.

Williams named the firm as the Indianapolis Brewery Co.

The Senator asserted that a special waiver allowing Nunan to act as attorney for the company was granted by the Treasury.

In New York, Nunan promptly denied representing the Midwest concern.

"I have never represented the Indianapolis Brewing Co.," said Nunan, now a private attorney.

"I never spoke to anyone on the company's behalf. I never received a fee from the company."

Connally Asks Break With Red Hungary

Washington (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tenn), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, accused Communist Hungary of "blackmail" and "extortion" yesterday and moved for a break in diplomatic relations.

Connally, usually an administration backer in the foreign policy field, criticized the administration for paying $120,000 in fines to obtain the release of four American airmen who landed on Hungarian soil last November. He said he regretted that the "American government rose to the bait and dutifully paid the blackmail."

In an angry Senate speech, Connally announced he was introducing a resolution asking the Senate to go on record in favor of a diplomatic rupture with the Red satellite government. He added that he knew the resolution would only be advisory to President Truman, even if adopted, but that he hoped the President "will listen."

The Texan suggested that Congress might refuse appropriations for a minister and a legation staff in Budapest to force a suspension of diplomatic relations with Hungary.

Connally's resolution will find a number of supporters in the Senate, Senator Knowland (R-Calif) has called for a break in diplomatic relations, Senator Russell (D-Ga) has denounced the incident, and Senator Lodge (R-Mass) suggested that the $120,000 in fines might be recovered by seizing Hungarian assets in the United States.

The State department paid the fines but retaliated by closing the Hungarian consulates in Cleveland and New York, and forbidding all American travel in Hungary.

Santiago, Chile, (AP)—Seven persons were killed yesterday when a motor launch burned on Lake Pirihueico in southern Chile, the Interior ministry announced. The lake is a summer resort in Valdivia province.

Criticizes Taft

Washington (AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore), in language plainly directed at Senator Taft (R-Ohio), yesterday denounced attacks on the Joint Chiefs of Staff as "a great public disservice."

Reds Agree To Red Cross Aid In Exchange Of War Prisoners

Munsan, Korea, Friday, (AP)—Communist staff officers yesterday agreed to United Nations terms permitting joint Red Cross teams to visit prisoner camps and assist in prisoner exchange after a Korean armistice.

The Reds capitulated on this Allied point in submitting a new plan for exchanging prisoners. But they still balked at the major issue—voluntary repatriation.

The Communists continued to demand that both sides release and repatriate all prisoners within 60 days after a truce becomes effective—forcibly if necessary. The Allies have insisted that prisoners be given the right to reject repatriation.

Staff officers held sessions on the new nine-point Red prisoner plan and on truce supervision terms in Panmunjom at 11 a. m. today.

The main armistice delegations will resume their plenary session Saturday on recommendations to governments, following the return of Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy from Tokyo.

The senior U. N. truce delegate conferred yesterday with Gen. John E. Hull, Army vice chief of staff; U. Alexis Johnson, deputy assistant secretary of state for the Far East, and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander.

Hull and Johnson flew in from Washington earlier in the day.

Sen. Kefauver Favors Envoy To Vatican

Manchester, N. H. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said yesterday he favored sending a personal envoy to the Vatican instead of a full-fledged U. S. ambassador.

Kefauver, touring New Hampshire in the interests of his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, told newsmen it was an unfortunate controversy over President Truman's proposal "had been used by some people to criticize the Catholic church."

Mr. Truman intended to nominate Gen. Mark Clark as ambassador but did not do so after General Clark decided he did not want the post because it would conflict with his Army status.

Accused Of Cribbing

Major Effort Made To Cut U. N. Positions

Seoul, Korea, Friday, (AP)—Roaring guns last night smashed a major Red attempt to breach the Allied lines on the eastern Korean front.

About 1,100 Chinese Reds struck down the dark, shadowy Munding valley behind a screen of artillery fire. Allied troops hurled them back in a 49-minute pitched battle.

It was the biggest Red assault in four weeks or more.

An Allied officer said the attack in such strength could mean only one thing: The Reds were fighting to ram a wedge down the long narrow valley past U. N. command strongholds on either side.

Elsewhere along the 155-mile front the Communists pushed out feeler thrusts to test Allied defenses. About 200 Reds hit one position "on the western front."

AP Correspondent Stan Carter watched the Munding valley battle from a hill 200 yards away. He said the Communists ran into a withering fire from Allied machineguns, rifles, tanks, "flak wagons," mortars and artillery. Flak wagons are quadruple 50-caliber machinegun mountings.

Carter said the Reds apparently suffered heavy casualties before retreating under cover of their own smoke shells.

The fight was in the shadow of Heartbreak ridge, scene of a bitter month-long battle last fall.

Despite the moonless sky, U. N. command troops were able to see the Reds approaching from two hill positions, one on each side of the valley.

About 600 Reds advanced along the valley floor against an Allied stronghold. Other groups of 100 to 200 cut toward the east and west.

When the Communists snipped the barbed wire barriers in front of the U. N. lines, the Allies opened up with their tremendous fire power.

Infantrymen close up hurled hand grenades. Machine guns chopped down some of the Chinese. Riflemen aimed and fired, then fired again. Allied mortars and artillery showered down on the Reds. Tanks turned their 76-millimeter guns on the Communists.

It was like a gigantic Fourth of July celebration.

Tracer bullets dished through the skyline like Roman candles. Flares floated down gently over the battlefield and artillery shells burst into flame when they hit.

The Reds fought back with heavy small-arms fire and barrages of mortars.

Allied artillery fired 894 rounds in about one hour. Mortar squads used up their entire supply of ammunition and had to send back for more.

A platoon led by Lt. Shelton Hoskins of Sinal, Ky. was almost completely surrounded by the Reds at one time. But it drove off the Reds without suffering a single casualty.

Newspaper Sold In Cincinnati

Cincinnati (AP)—The Cincinnati Times-Star management yesterday announced it has purchased the 110-year-old Cincinnati Enquirer, subject to court approval.

The paper was bought for approximately $7,500,000 from the estate of John R. McLean, Washington. The agreement to buy was signed by Hulbert Taft, president and publisher of the Times-Star Publishing Co. and the American Security and Trust Co.

It must be approved by the U. S. District court of the District of Columbia.

Bettor Sues Bookie For Lost Wagers

Newark, N. J. (AP)—The book-making fraternity—jockeyed from pillar to post time by the Federal tax law—got another jolt yesterday.

A bettor sued his alleged bookie for lost wagers and won.

The bettor, John Zabady of Caldwell, a convicted "embezzler," was declared the winner in his unusual civil suit to recover $9,740 in bets lost from Paul Spitz of Paterson.

Zabady—serving 18 months for embezzling $19,299 from St. Barnabas' hospital where he was employed—claimed he lost the money betting on the nags, part of it with Spitz.

Zabady's attorney, Cuddie E. Davidson, said that the suit was brought under an 1877 New Jersey statute based on old English law.

The statute provides, Davidson said, that any person losing money in bets in violation of the state's gaming laws may sue to recover the money from the winner.

Lowell Cross To Take Part In Seminar

Lowell H. Cross, advertising director of The Daily Record, will attend a two-week program of the American Press Institute opening Monday at Columbia University, New York City.

He will take part in the first advertising seminar scheduled by the institute in the six years it has been in operation. To insure similarity of interests, nominations to attend the institute were limited to newspapers having less than 75,000 circulation.

Twenty-four newspaper advertising executives, representing papers in 16 states, will attend the two-week program. Their round-table sessions will be devoted to means of improving all departments of a newspaper and increasing the effectiveness of newspaper advertising.

The program has been planned and will be conducted by Walter Everett, associate director of the institute.

Lyndon R. Boyd, advertising director of the Oneonta Star and William C. Lundquist, advertising director of the Endicott Daily Bulletin, will also attend the sessions. Both newspapers are associated with the Daily Record as Ottawa-owned newspapers.

Charles H. Edmondson, veteran staff member, has been appointed by Mr. Cross as acting advertising director of The Daily Record.

The United States and Canada between them use 700,000 tons of sulphur a year to help make pulp paper.

Induction for Dentists

It will not be happy news for those several hundred dentists who will receive greetings from the President in April, inviting them to exchange their white coats for the more somber uniforms of the Army, Navy, and Air Force, but apparently there is nothing else to be done.

The Department of Defense has said, in announcing its decision to reach out for the man with the drill, that because the number of dentists volunteering for commissions is falling far short of the need for replacements, the only recourse is to rope them into the services.

Of course, school children and others, including many adults who procrastinate as long as possible on those essential visits to the dentist, may see in this draft another temporary surcease from sitting down in the chair.

The department has not put out an order drafting doctors since the start of the Korean war, but if the armed forces are unable to maintain an adequate supply of these very necessary individuals, then the long arm of government will reach out to embrace the doctors needed.

One point has not been missed by the erstwhile doctors in Uncle Sam's uniforms. Should they not come forward as enthusiastic volunteers to accept the commissions awaiting them, then they will perforce be drafted as buck privates, and this goes for the dentists, too.

All in all, the situation is an interesting one for those who have taken the Hippocratic oath, and who are hoping against hope that they can get well started in their professional life before the demand for their service in the armed forces calls them away.

This is understandable. But it is equally understandable that our men and women in service are quite as anxious for proper medical attention as are those of us who are not in uniform.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, — The resignation of Edward Barrett will not improve the Voice of America very much. The Voice is still loaded down with refugees from the wartime Office of War Information that was directed by Elmer Davis but actually run by government-paid Pinkos.

No one, of course, is certain how many Communists worked for Davis nor how many of them are now employed by the Voice. There is great certainty, however, that the same kind of blabbering idiocy is still being broadcast, including a daily rundown for Europeans on what is new at the Stork Club.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee is interested in all of this because it is investigating the Institute of Pacific Relations and other related organizations, such as Amerasia, the publication of Philip Jacob Jaffe that was used as a cover for pilfering thousands of secret documents from the State Department.

To get into the Voice of America I have to go back to 1947 when Senator William Benton was an assistant secretary of state in charge of the Voice. One of his chief assistants was William T. Stone, who was and still is employed by the Voice.

Thanks to the memory of the anti-Communist writer Julius Epstein and the files of representative Fred Busby of Illinois, I can give you a square shot at Stone's record.

Busby said that Stone was a member of the editorial board of Amerasia from 1937 through 1941. Chairman of the board was Frederick V. Field, the managing editor was Philip J. Jaffe, who was indicted and fined for hoarding secret State Department files in his office in New York. This 1937-41 period, of course, included the era of the Hitler-Stalin pact, when Amerasia and Communist publications were screaming about the "imperialistic war" and warning the U. S. to stay out of it.

Benton defended Stone when Busby called this to his attention. He said that there was nothing wrong with Stone's connections with Amerasia, since the board of directors never met anyway.

Back in 1948 the House committee on un-American activities called in Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, who had been identified as a member of a Soviet espionage ring by ex-Communist Elizabeth Bentley.

Silvermaster was employed by the Board of Economic Warfare during the war and when word got around that he was walking and talking like a Communist an effort was made to fire him. He walked over to the White House for a chat with Lauchlin Currie, secretary to President Roosevelt. Miss Bentley had this to say about what happened then:

"It was definitely, from my own knowledge, due to Mr. Currie's influence that Mr. Silvermaster was not ousted from his job in the BEW but was permitted to return to the Agriculture department without any stigma on him."

Silvermaster's boss was William T. Stone. Stone, of course, cannot be held responsible for Silvermaster's political views, but he could have had him bounced off the payroll. Instead, the way was greased for Silvermaster to make a clean exit. The same thing is going on in the State department today whenever the Loyalty board there starts breathing down the neck of the Communists on the payroll. The Loyalty Review board says the State department lets its Reds resign, and some of them walk down the street and get another government job.

Apparently that was the administration's policy back in 1947 and still is today. Replacing Barrett with Howland Sergeant isn't going to change that policy insofar as the State department and the Voice of America are concerned. Sergeant wouldn't be getting Barrett's job if he held any other views than the ones that prevail around the Voice of America right now. And those are the policies that were formulated in the old OWI days and carried right over with the files and the hired hands into the Voice of America.

High Cost Penny

It was cheering news to note that the government returned to a former Marine sergeant the seabag and a penny he had left in Tokyo when he departed for the invasion of Inchon, Korea. It was hardly as cheering to also note that the cost of returning the penny was 33 cents. There must be simpler ways of accomplishing such deeds of good will, but the government is hardly the place to look for simplicity in business methods.

Mr. DiSalle Bows Out

There never has been anything particularly humorous about the Office of Price Stabilization or any other government control agency, but Michael V. DiSalle, the roly-poly price director, did lighten some of the burden with his airy approach to the job.

Now Mr. DiSalle has taken his good-natured kidding out of the government and entered the race for senator from Ohio. His rise from comparative obscurity on the national scene to a position of some stature is a tribute to his ability to make his pleasant personality felt.

The "Yellow Hand" An income tax investigation which has never been reported has been carried on for months on a national scale, looking into a multi-million-dollar racket system of the Chinese tongs.

Even older than the Sicilian Black Hand are the Chinese secret societies, which existed from time immemorial as patriotic, anti-foreign and criminal organizations. . . . In the New World the Chinese established the tong system, apparently for benevolent and miscellaneous purposes but actually to monopolize crime. . . . When the Black Hand grew into the Mafia, and that into the worldwide Crime Cartel, it found the international Chinese society set-up side by side with it, a valuable ally and business associate. Wherever there is a Chinatown there are alliances with the Crime Syndicate.

Most American - Chinese criminals are members of one of the "tongs." Their social psychology, or Oriental "way of thinking," makes them contemptuous of Western manners and law enforcement. Large transactions in narcotics are financed by Chinese gambling activities.

Many Chinese have entered this country illegally and fear of deportation is greater than fear of prison. Possession of so-called "coaching papers" is evidence that the holder got in illegally or conspired in the false entry of others.

Tongs, or "hongs" in the Toisan dialect, of which there are seven, exist only in the United States and Canada. They are secret societies which came into being in San Francisco about 1897. . . . To ban killings without losing the profits, Chinese amalgamated the six family associations into the "Look Dai Gung See" (Chinese Six Companies) or "Jung Wah Wui Goon" (Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association).

Victims of the Six Companies formed the first tong in San Francisco. Daring law - defying Chinese from each association joined and formed a vicious coercive secret order whose "hatchmen" or "highlanders," through threats and violence, negated the Six Companies. . . . The first tong took control of gambling, prostitution of Chinese women and narcotics. Merchants were blackmailed into paying monthly tribute for "protection." Graft bought immunity from police - a Yellow Hand, so to say.

Tongs exist on profits of gambling, lottery and dope. All are chartered as non-profit corporations in their home states. Thus, they evade payments of state and federal income taxes and help Italian partners beat theirs too. Their records and accounts are kept in Chinese.

Since, June, 1944, when Detroit narcotics agents raided the On Leong Tong building, reliable information revealed that the New York and Boston officers of that tong prepared fraudulent accounts. Profits are shared by the officials only. Members who would question their honesty are expelled. The New York On Leong Tong headquarters, building was completed in 1950 at a

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

On the Groucho Marx radio program, there was a ninety-year-old man who claimed that he was a licensed airplane pilot and that his one ambition was to fly a jet plane.

I don't know whether the thing was a gag or not, but there was one remark he made which impressed me.

"Do you think that everybody ought to learn to fly?" Groucho asked him in one of his serious moments.

"I certainly do," said the man.

"Provided they know what to do when they get there."

Another bit of philosophy was given by this fellow to married men.

He himself has been married 57 years and claims that he has always gotten along with his wife.

"Never argue with a woman," he said.

Groucho always has two people together on his quiz show. The other one, in this case, was a woman, and a well educated woman at that. She was the wife of a college professor of mathematics and herself some kind of scientist.

When the ninety-year-old suggested that one should never argue with a woman, she contradicted him.

"I think husbands and wives should talk things over and argue them out. That is the best cost of $500,000.

In eastern and middle-western states, all Chinese except students and a few who show fortitude are subjugated. Unless he is a tong member a Chinese laborer cannot work; a merchant cannot buy goods of Chinese origin or employ persons of his own race or be free from indignities. . . . Chinese in legitimate pursuits have to join to escape harassments. Chinese women are not exempted. . . . The blackmailing of hundreds of Chinese seamen, illegally in this country, is another tong racket.

New members are inducted by kneeling before a shrine and crossing lethal weapons and reading aloud a long oath vowing, under penalty of death, to tell nothing, not to join rival tongs, to pay dues and assessments, kill if delegated to.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Mimmers' Serenade

Even those who do not support the campaign for General Eisenhower's candidacy respect him as a man, a citizen and a soldier. Political opposition need not mean personal disapprobation.

The same, I am sure, holds true about most of the political opponents of Senator Robert A. Taft. The worst that has been said about him is that he cannot be elected, which no one can know until after he has been defeated.

The more I think of it, the more I am embarrassed for General Eisenhower's sake having watched the mimmers' campaign for him on television. It was cheap. It was vulgar. General Eisenhower is neither cheap nor vulgar. He needs to come home to defend himself from his friends, whose zeal drives them to have a girl in a bathing suit in February in New York campaign for him and to have some models do their stuff on the sidewalks of New York to prove his availability for the Presidency.

Surely, the campaign for General Eisenhower in New York should have been opened in a tone less reminiscent of the worship of Astarte. He could not have countenanced such nonsense as a reply to the demand that the frightful issues facing us, including the lives of our sons, be discussed in this election. That demand is not answered by Fred Waring dancing with Ethel Merman (not too gracefully as it appeared in the distortions of television) in a prize-fighting ring in Madison Square Garden.

Nor did Miss Merman's exciting rendition of "Show Business," if that is what the melody is called, add in any way to a consideration of the problem of a $100,000,000,000 budget.

In many respects, the mimmers' serenade of Eisenhower was an amazing performance, because it is difficult to understand, in political terms, why it was done. It was held in Madison Square Garden; after a prize fight, at 11:30 o'clock at night. The audience of 15,000 was partly assured by the residue of the fight and partly by free tickets distributed from Maine to Texas. A free audience to see Clark Gable, Irving Berlin, Jinx Falkenburg, Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall and such is always available in New York.

The managers of the effort made no attempt to display distinguished leaders of the Republican Party. No speeches were delivered, except a few remarks by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and the playing of an ancient record of an Eisenhower speech. Nothing was said about a single issue before the people. Not a word was discussed to elevate the spirit. Fred Waring's glee club added a note of decency by singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

General Eisenhower is deserving of more solemn support. Election campaigns can degenerate to a Roman bacchanalia, but that is not what the noble institution which implements the right of a people to a government of their own choice represents. If it is humor that is required, would it not be more fitting to frame it in such language as Chauncey Depew employed; or if it is brilliance of thought, would not such a debate as that of Stephen Douglas and Abraham Lincoln be more proper?

Why must so many institutions, in our times, be vulgarized? Why must we make light of our noblest traditions? We make light of marriage. We ridicule family ties; the churches are being attacked and religion is forbidden in our schools as though it were a horror. The secularization of our world has not improved morals or manners, because disrespect has become the mark of custom rather than of impropriety.

In the course of a campaign, men do and say things which are the products of ambition or anger or even because they believe them to be true. But such shenanigans as the mimmers perpetrated at Madison Square Garden, the reduction of an election campaign to vaudeville, if not to burlesque, do no harm to the opposition, but do embarrass and even humiliate the one whom the actors and such pretend to support.

It is so unfair to General Eisenhower that he ought to return to America to examine his friends to discover whether they are really what they pretend to be or Democrats trying to kill off his candidacy in the Republican Party.

When Abbott Lowell was President of Harvard, he authored a serious book, and discovering that an acquaintance at his country club had never heard of it, promised "I'll ask my publisher to send you a review copy." By mistake, the publisher sent two copies. Some days later, Dr. Lowell met the man again. "By George, that's a corking work you've done," he was told. "I could not wait to get into it. I finished volume one the night it came, and now I'm halfway through volume two!"

A couple of vats at a brewery in Milwaukee were struck by lightning in a flash storm last summer. Not only were they undamaged, however, but experimentation proved that the beer within, instead of being spoiled, was actually improved in quality. The foreman smacked his lips over the unexpectedly fine flavor and wired the head of the outfit, "We believe this is the first case on record of a storm actually brewing."

The improvements have been extensive. Our Washington correspondent in charge of alterations sends us the following outline:

Hollywood—If you should have a 30-pound boa constrictor drop on you in a jungle, be sure to unwind him first, starting with the tail. No matter how much his jaws, biting into your neck or shoulder, may hurt.

This advice is from a young animal trainer, Ralph Heifer, who has two boas working in a picture called "Condor's Nest." He rents 'em for $100 a day apiece and brings 'em to the studio in a big box. An electric light bulb inside it keeps their quarters at a tropical 82 degrees. He invited me to pick 'em up as he was doing—they were newly rat-fied and amiable—but I said no, thanks. . . .

Report On A Renovation

The reconstructed and overhauled White House is nearly finished and a President Truman took a group of friends over for a look-see the other day. The whole structure has been enormously strengthened, but we still doubt that it could stand the shock if a Republican moved in after all these years.

And it is our belief that Harry Truman would never feel so disgusted as he would if, after all the improvement on the building, he found no Democrat was going to enjoy them.

The improvements have been extensive. Our Washington correspondent in charge of alterations sends us the following outline:

Work Expected To Resume Soon At Tobyhanna Signal Depot

Preparation Of Site Hinges On Weather

Tobyhanna—Resumption of work on the first phase contract on the $33,000,000 Signal Depot here is imminent.

Both Rochez Bros., East Pittsburgh contractors who have the first phase or site preparation contract and other authorities connected with the project admit that the jurisdictional labor dispute involving the engineers and teamsters union is settled.

George Nicholson, superintendent of the Rochez job here said yesterday the union dispute has been settled.

Asked about the possibilities of resumption of the site preparation work, largely a matter of removing earth and rock from various points on the site and using it as fill on other portions, Nicholson replied:

"It is largely up to the weather. If we get some good weather we can work."

The job superintendent noted that there are about 20 inches of frost in the ground on the project, especially in places where fills have been made.

Yesterday the temperature on the reservation was 21 degrees and the wind so potent it was difficult to get a car door open when it swung into the wind.

Unofficially, the Corps of Engineers and the engineer-architects for the job . . . they are Bilbo, O'Malley & Stopper . . . are anxious to get the project going.

There have been conferences to that end, but no move has been made to get the huge "cats" and earth conveyors warmed up to action.

Yesterday Capt. John A. Myers, resident engineer, Corps of Engineers, said that work will be started soon on installation of a six-foot drain from the site under tracks of the Lackawanna Railroad.

The pipe will be installed at milepost 109 on the railroad, a spot along the road to Gouldsboro where a small pond is to be drained to provide space for the railroad sidings to be required by the depot.

Much drainage work is already installed on the site, and a great deal more remains. The drainage contractor is Globe Contracting Co. of Upper Darby, Pa., operating on a sub-contract.

But on the site, most equipment has been moved off and parked. Some shovels and rollers stand on the site of operations, ready when the word is given to resume operations.

Meanwhile, the final phase of the job will be bid on Feb. 18 at the Corps of Engineers, Philadelphia district office in Philadelphia.

Believed to involve some $20,000,000, the final phase is represented by better than 500 blueprints.

Federal Aid To Schools Explained At Tobyhanna

Tobyhanna—Members of the Coolhaugh Township School board last night heard Francis Campbell, assistant to the director of the New York office, Federal Office of Education, describe the procedures used by the government in assisting local school districts with an overload of pupils caused by military establishments and other Federal projects.

Campbell's remarks were variously interpreted by members of the board. One group apparently interpreted his speech to mean that "nothing could be done in the line of federal aid until students are living on the property at the (Tobyhanna) depot with their parents."

Another interpretation followed the line that Federal aid could be secured "as soon as contracts for the housing (under the Wherry act) at the depot had been signed and an approximate date of completion set." This would mean that Federal aid would be based upon an approximation of the number of students who might be enrolled at the township school.

The meeting was attended by County Superintendent John C. Litts and Assistant County Superintendent Walter Sebring.

The board members discussed the Drennan proposal but withheld a decision in lieu of further study. One board member estimated the decision would not be reached until the board meeting next month.

When a U. S. government check for seven and a half billion dollars was issued in 1948 to balance treasury books, it was believed to be the largest check ever issued.

Barn Burns On Farm Of Katie George

Kresgeville—Fire destroyed a frame bank barn last night on the farm of Mrs. Katie George, two miles west of here on the Kresgeville-Big Creek pike.

The blaze, which started on the thrashing floor of the 40-by-60 barn, was discovered about 7 p. m. by Mrs. George's son, Paul.

The Trachville Fire Co., was called in time to save other outbuildings which were located within 100 feet of the blazing barn.

Firemen ran a hose line to a stream 300 feet away and were able to get plenty of water.

Several tons of hay in the barn fed the flames. When the structure collapsed, flame and embers puffed outward. Some of the burning timbers fell within 10 feet of a chickenhouse but firemen saved the smaller building from damage.

A northwest wind helped by blowing flame and heat away from the outbuildings, but carried burning debris to a field near the barn. Half the six-acre field was burned off before hardworking volunteers extinguished the wind-fanned blaze.

Losses were estimated as a minimum $5,000 to the barn and stored hay. No equipment or cattle were in the structure.

The loss was partially insured.

Rites Held For Mr. Cunningham

Funeral services were held at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. yesterday for Garrett

Barrett Board Ratifies Tax Proposition

Barrett township school directors gave their official endorsement last night to the proposal by Harry J. Drennan to equalize assessments in this county at one-third the market value, according to Mrs. Lillian Price, secretary of the Barrett board.

The motion for approval of the plan was made and passed unanimously by a board meeting which all members attended. Barrett's endorsement raised the number approving boards to six.

The board members also approved bills for payment in the amount of $8,217.32. Barrett School Superintendent Andrew Lewis was authorized to attend a special "school lighting conference" in Cleveland, Ohio, March 10, 11 and 12.

Consent for the use of the school auditorium by the Barrett Alumni organization on Friday, Feb. 29 for a "leap year dance" was officially given by the board members.

Members discussed the possibility of permitting the Rotary Club of the Poconos to use the school baseball field for "Little league mer." No decision was made.

Cunningham, with a high mass of requiem. Rev. Harold Durkin was celebrant.

Pallbearers were Chester Mertens, Woodrow Kresge, John Cowley, James Coleman, Elwood Stalmer and David Kowalski.

The Holy Name society recited the rosary Wednesday night at the funeral home of William H. Clark. Interment was made in St. Matthew's cemetery.

Stroudsburg School Board Endorses Drennan Proposal To Equalize Assessments

The Stroudsburg school board last night unanimously expressed its approval of the Drennan plan for county-wide assessment equalization, "or any similar plan which would put assessments on an equal basis in Monroe county."

Approval was noted in a vocal response to a question following discussion of the Drennan letter at the monthly school board meeting at Stroudsburg High school. Board members said they did not believe it necessary to pass a motion in support of the letter. The approval will apparently be passed on to Drennan or to County Superintendent John C. Litts by mail.

In other actions, the board: (1) authorized Superintendent Earl Groner to make all arrangements for the administration of the new loyalty oath now required of all public employees according to State law; (2) hired Mrs. Earl Willhoit and Mrs. Loring Cramer as substitute elementary teachers; (3) authorized the secretary to advertise for bids for school supplies and (4) gave its approval to a proposed use of the Stroudsburg school rifle range by the Rifle club of Art

East Stroudsburg High To Conduct Spelling Contest

Students of Grades 10, 11 and 12 at East Stroudsburg High school will compete in homeroom contests Monday morning during the first school period to determine the best speller in the high school.

The school winner will be entered in the Lehigh Valley spelling bee.

Metal Works providing the club arranged for liability insurance in the amount of $100,000.

Modern Rooms Must Serve Double Duty

With the trend toward smaller homes and at the same time diversified family activities and interests, architects say that every room in the house should be made to do double and even triple duty, since few home owners can afford the luxury of additional rooms for special uses.

Accordingly, many small homes today are designed so activities can be absorbed in areas other than the living room. A bedroom furnished as a study solves the problem of quietness for mental concentration. An alcove can be used for hobby work which can be placed out of sight if adequate cabinets are provided.

By combining dining and living room, more space is available for large groups. Lines of divisions are achieved by arrangement of furniture or low bookshelves or cabinets. Since it is not always possible to provide a special recreation room, careful arrangement of kitchen-dining space will permit children to entertain here without interfering with other members of the family in the living room.

Painter Ages Knotty Pine

Paint authorities have now devised a way to obtain an old and weatherbeaten effect on new knotty pine woodwork.

To secure the effect, paint experts advise, first sponge the surface with a fairly strong solution of ammonia or soda. If a dark finish is preferred, make a stain of raw umber thinned with turpentine and add enough varnish to bind it. Prepared varnish stains are also available for this purpose.

A thin coat of reduced shellac or dull varnish may then be applied, followed by a coating of wax.

Think Before You Select Curtains

Spring is curtain buying time and think well before making your selection. Net curtains give an enlarging effect to the small room. Don't be governed too much by a passing fashion when curtaining your room; decide what is the prettiest and most suitable material and stick to it. Elaborate, ornate curtains in a modest little home are most out of place and dainty sheer nets would be so much more suitable. Curtains are expensive accessories, so think well before you buy.

Make House Tight

CaULKING compounds are used to fill joints around door and window frames, chimneys and other apertures before paint is applied. This product is prepared in two consistencies; one for application with a putty knife—a thinner one for use with a caulking gun.

Plaster Wall Finish

A new plaster wall should not be painted until it has thoroughly dried out, which usually requires two months.

Bartonsville

Mrs. Robert Field

Rev. John Bergstresser, of the Hamilton Lutheran church is conducting a series of Bible study classes. The first of which was held at Christ church, Hamilton Square on Monday night, Feb. 11. The classes are undenominational and anyone desirous of Bible study is invited to attend these classes.

Mr. and Mrs. John K. Connors, Mary Allegar, Robert Beeher, Verdon Frailey, Edgar Hartman and John Hartman were among those who recently observed their birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bond and children Beverly, Barry and Wayne visited relatives in Easton on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Starnier, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Field, Mrs. Beatrice Swink, Mrs. Stella Detrick, Haviland Heiler and Ronald Swink attended the February meeting of the Adult Study group of the Hamilton Lutheran church at Christ church, Hamilton Square on Sunday night, February 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartman and granddaughters, Beverly and Donna and Mrs. Richard Metzgar attended a party at the home of Mrs. Sara Carlton of Swiftwater, on Saturday night, February 9 in honor of the eighty-seventh birthday of Edgar Hartman.

The Borden might be called a "big little house". It has two bedrooms, a living room and a kitchen, located in an area of only 720 square feet. No space is wasted throughout this compact little house. The Borden's four rooms open on a hall only 3 feet by 7 feet. There is also an unusually large amount of closet space.

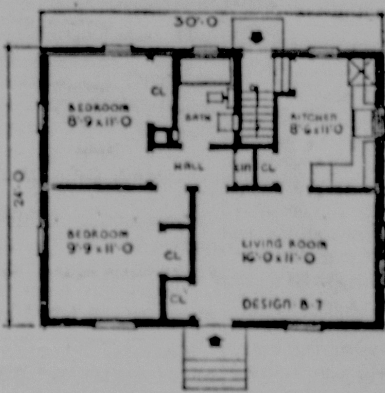

Closets in The Borden are conveniently located. There are generous wardrobes in each of The Borden's two bedrooms. The Borden's modern, efficient kitchen has a broom closet.

The living room is provided with a handy coat closet. And there is also a linen closet in the hall. The Borden contains a full basement.

Exterior walls of The Borden are constructed of 8-inch concrete blocks. They are lined on the inside and plastered on the outside. The Borden may also be constructed of frame with siding, if desired. The Borden's roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

The Borden's width is 30 feet. The depth of the Borden is 24 feet. There is an area of 720 square feet. The house has a volume of 14,184 cubic feet.

For further information about THE BORDEN, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Make Roof Examination In Spring

As home owners approach the season for drawing plans for spring repairs and improvements they should place the roof high on the list of subjects for consideration.

This is most essential for those whose houses are roofed with tin. Most roofing authorities recommend that the tin roof be painted immediately upon installation and every two years thereafter. In cases where galvanized sheet metal is used, the roof should not be painted for at least six months after installation, as this period of conditioning is necessary to free the surface acids which otherwise may tend to loosen the paint.

Peeling paint should be removed with steel wool, sandpaper or a wire brush before new paint is applied.

Let Sample Dry To Match Colors

Different colors of paint, enamel and lacquer dry in different ways. Some dry lighter. Some change quite a little. Consequently, if you can't match a wet sample of the coating material—when you think you're close to the desired result—be sure to brush out a sample and let it dry. It's best to brush out your sample on a surface similar to that on which the coating will be used. If time is limited, it is sometimes helpful to moisten the dry sample and compare it to the wet paint being mixed.

Tile Around Shower

When a shower head is installed over a bathtub, it is wise to extend the tile work at least to the height of the shower curtain bar. If the tile wainscot is too low, the surface above it will soon be damaged and need refinishing.

Cloth Traps Dust

Before dusting a radiator with a brush, lay a wet cloth on top. Loose dust will rise and stick to the cloth instead of being scattered about room.

Hints Of Selecting Wallpaper Designs

When selecting wallpaper from samples, remember that patterns look smaller on the wall and color shades darker.

Always make the selection in daylight so you are sure of the colors.

If possible, have a couple of rolls of the pattern you are considering placed side by side to get the effect of a larger surface.

Avoid large patterns if the room is small.

If you know you're going to live with the paper for some time, don't buy a design that's overwhelming.

If your furnishings are only so-so, use a distinctive wallpaper for character.

Patterned wallpaper should be used where plaster is cracked or uneven, where offsets jut out at strange angles or where fabrics and rugs are too plain.

Home Lighting Requires Study

The design, location and number of lighting fixtures to be made part of a home should be given careful attention.

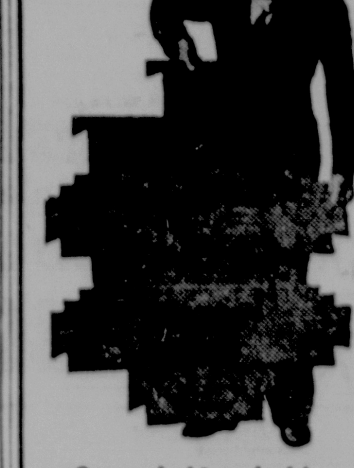

There is a trend entirely away from attached lighting fixtures, and where this is followed an ample number of wiring outlets must be provided to care for movable lighting devices.

Proper light distribution and the elimination of glare should be sought in the selection and location of lighting fixtures.

Fixtures must be structurally sound and attractive in appearance. Extreme styles of lighting fixtures decline rapidly in value. Thus, simplicity in design should be sought.

Wedge-Shaped Lots Waste Much Land

Lots with sharp-pointed corners waste land because the resulting wedge-shaped areas have little or no utility. It is pointed out by land-planning officials of the Federal Housing Administration.

Such lots also constitute poor building sites.

Sharp-angled lots can be avoided by planning streets to intersect at right angles and by making side-lot lines perpendicular or radial to street lines.

When minor streets join a thoroughfare at sharp angles, visibility is greatly impaired for both motorists and pedestrians.

Painting Masonry

Before painting very porous brick or other masonry, with an oil paint, apply a half-and-half mixture of turpentine and dried linseed oil. This will fill the pores so the paint will be absorbed more evenly.

Mist Barrier Guards Walls From Damage

Permeation of warm moist air from the interior of the house into the walls, where it may condense by striking a cold surface, can be prevented or greatly retarded by the use of a vapor barrier. Usually this protection can be conveniently installed only at the time the home is being built.

Vapor barriers are either metal sheets, metal foil, or asphalt impregnated-and-coated paper. The vapor barrier is only effective when it is placed on or near the warm inner side of a house wall. By being near the warm inner side of the wall the barrier is about the same temperature as the house interior and therefore will not condense the moisture out of the air.

If the vapor barrier is placed on the cold outer side of a house wall, it tends to assume the temperature of the outside air. In this situation it is not a help, but a menace to the building. The water-vapor reaching it will be unable to pass to the outside air while the barrier will cause the vapor to condense and remain within the wall structure.

The manufacturers of insulation now supply batt and blanket types of insulation with a vapor barrier on one face of the batt.

Plastic Repair

Sometimes a plaster wall is so badly cracked or mutilated that patching may be a formidable job and difficult to do satisfactorily. It is suggested that such walls may be covered with thin wallboards which presents a smooth surface and is easy to apply. The wallboard then can be painted in any desired color.

When Windows Stick

If windows don't slide up and down easily, try rubbing paraffin on the cords.

Light Colors Brighten Home

Because certain colors reflect more light than others, it is often possible to make a dark room brighter by changing the color of wall and ceiling paint.

A survey recently completed by a large electrical company showed that to obtain the best light ceiling tints should have a reflection value of 85 per cent. To achieve this value the ceiling should be painted white or some color close to white. A 45 per cent reflection value should be supplied by the walls, requiring a color such as light blue, gray, tan, pink or light green. Lower walls should have a reflection value of 20 per cent, obtainable through use of dark green, dark blue or maroon.

Ordinance For Food Handlers Is Endorsed

The Monroe County Medical society held a meeting Wednesday night at the General hospital with Dr. Paul Lieberman, chief of the Urologic clinic at the University of Pennsylvania as guest speaker.

Dr. Lieberman discussed recent developments in the study of hematuria, an eruptive blood disease. Lieberman has done extensive research on the disease.

During the business meeting Dr. Edward Krause, Portland physician, was admitted to the society by its members.

The medical society expressed its approval of a public health ordinance for the county, including both Stroudsburg boroughs, which would require food handlers to take chest X-ray examinations. Members of the society feel, at present, there is no effective means of enforcing adequate regulations governing food handlers.

Dr. John L. Rumsey conducted the meeting.

Nurses To Plan District Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Monroe County Registered Nurses association will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the clinic room at 621 Sarah St., Stroudsburg.

The program will include a movie on tuberculosis entitled "Unsuspected".

A large turnout of members is requested as plans will be advanced for the district meeting to be held here in May.

It is available with new power steering, electric window lifts, fluid-torque drive, power brakes, and dozens of other outstanding new car features. The Fire Dome 8 convertible is pictured above. Other available body styles are the four door sedan, the club coupe, the sportsman, and an all-steel station wagon.

Advisory Unit Meets With School Head

The Technical Advisory committee of the Industrial and Foremen's club met last night at East Stroudsburg High school to discuss vocational guidance for students of the school.

Among recent innovations made by the school's personnel department is the filling-out of a series of individual "vocational index cards." These cards show the student's past work experience, his aptitudes and future plans and present a handy and immediate reference library for use in the student's employment problems.

School Principal Ralph Burrows demonstrated the new system before the committee at last night's meeting.

Henryville

Ph. 3880-J4

Rev. Spangenberg's sermon on Sunday in the Pocono Union church was "Selling the Soul." Mrs. Henry Baumann and Mrs. Edward Wood played a violin duet entitled "The Old, Old Story" for the offertory. Mrs. Arthur Post was the pianist. The church choir offered for their morning anthem, "Be Silent Before Him." The church choir will be having their rehearsals on Friday at 8 p.m. from now on.

Miss Josephine Meiser is spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Florida, and is expected to return in April.

Mrs. Mabel Henry and Mrs. Johanna Berger were entertained at tea by Mrs. Edward Wood on Sunday afternoon.

Congratulations to Richard Post, who celebrates his birthday on Thursday, Feb. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strunk and children have moved from our community. Mr. Strunk has taken the position of caretaker of the estate of Allen Roth, well-known orchestra leader. Their new address is Stroudsburg RD3.

A very happy day for a very happy couple is St. Valentine's day, which was the sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry, who are spending the winter in Florida. Congratulations from all of us back home.

Robert Tucker called on Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barry on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tucker visited Mr. and Mrs. Barry on Sunday afternoon.

Lewis Tucker and Harvey Tucker visited Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart Sunday night and had a pleasant night watching television.

Jail Breaker Sentenced To Two Months

A sentence of two additional months in the county jail has been ordered against Alvyda Duane Bidwell, 23, who escaped from the jail Nov. 29.

The two-month sentence ordered by President Judge Fred W. Davis brings Bidwell's total sentence to a year and two months.

The judge ordered the jail-break sentence to start at the expiration of Bidwell's year in jail for car theft. The latter sentence was computed from last Aug. 23.

The red-headed Blakely man escaped from the jail after locking a deputy in the cellblock behind him. He hitch-hiked to New York City, gave himself up to police there the next day.

He was returned to Stroudsburg about a week later, and pleaded guilty of the charge of jail-break.

Love
and Telephones

It's not news that the number of marriages is growing by leaps and bounds these days. More marriages mean more families; more families mean more homes; more homes mean the need for more and more telephones. Love is a wonderful thing, but it has the Telephone Company working like crazy to keep up with it! Add to love the requirements of national defense and a booming Pennsylvania—and you have the reasons why 1952 will be such a big year in the continuing telephone expansion program.

"Open Sesame..."

Courtesy Opens the Line

"All doors are open to courtesy"... A modern version of this old proverb would have to include party-line telephones, for they, too, are open to courtesy. When you keep calls brief, for example, and wait a few minutes between each of several calls that you are making, your courtesy works two ways: it not only opens the party-line for others, but also opens the line for others to reach you with calls you would not want to miss.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania

Conventions... by Cable!

This year's political conventions will be witnessed by more people in more places than anyone would have dreamed of just a few short years ago. The "extra" audience, of course, consists of the millions who will have front-row seats via television. And the telecasts themselves will journey coast-to-coast via the Bell System's network of coaxial cable lines and Radio-Relay channels... both of which can carry, in addition to transcontinental TV programs, thousands upon thousands of Long Distance telephone calls.

Busy Times For PTA Of Clearview

The appointment of home room mothers, arrangements for a penny supper, a pops concert, and plans for a children's library and playground at the Clearview school were all on the agenda of the Clearview Parent-Teachers association meeting Monday night at the school.

Climaxing the program was a round-table discussion on "Progressive Education and the Three R's" with Raymond Harding, principal, moderator and Mrs. Anne Fabel, Mrs. Esther Frisbie, Mrs. Mary Gearhart, Miss Annabelle Nierling and Mrs. G. Alvin Shook as members of the panel.

The group discussed discipline, homework, progressive education, moral teachers and modern school citizenship with parents contributing to the discussion, aimed at a basis for understanding the problems which affect today's children.

Robert Hellman, president, presided at the business meeting which was advanced from 8 until 7:45, a new meeting time from now on.

Mrs. Loring Cramer, chairman of the membership committee, announced that with the help of the teaching staff she had appointed home room mothers for each grade who will work for closer cooperation with all parents.

Home rooms, teachers and the home room mothers were announced as follows: First grade, taught by Mrs. Lillian Peechaka, Mrs. Fred Kegley; first grade taught by Mrs. Mabel Shook, Mrs. Ed. Steinmetz; second grade, taught by Mrs. Anne Fabel, Mrs. Forrest Fabel; third grade, taught by Mrs. Evelyn Clugston, Mrs. Loring Cramer; fourth grade, taught by Mrs. Esther Frisbie, Mrs. Lee Serfass; fifth grade, taught by Miss Alice Keller, Mrs. Edward Yost; and sixth grade, taught by Clarence Transue, Mrs. Joseph Fastino; with Mrs. Mary Gearhart in charge of the special class.

A report of the Trading Post established at the school this year was given by Mrs. Betty Imbt, who reported that the selection of merchandise is increasing each day, and invited the mothers to come and inspect the bargains now on sale, and to bring anything they wish to contribute. Business hours for the post were announced for each Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 3 unless otherwise stated.

The Penny supper to be held at the Clearview school on Saturday, February 16, it was announced, from 5:30 to 7:30. Meat loaf and ham will be featured on the menu which will also include potatoes, vegetables, salads, relishes, desserts, beverages. The public is invited.

The "Pops concert" is scheduled for April 24, and Mrs. Natalie Kohn, chairman, reported on plans for entertainment and refreshments.

In reporting on school activities, Raymond Harding reported that the proceeds from the recent Biddy Basketball game will be used to start a Children's Library fund. He also announced that the school had been thoroughly fumigated and the recent epidemic of illnesses has cleared up.

Final project for the PTA is the plans for the children's playground for which Robert Hellman is enlisting the aid of every father of a child in school. They plan a preliminary meeting in a few weeks.

Following the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Ann Baird and her committee which included: Mrs. Loring Cramer, Mrs. Robert Marley, Mrs. Elwood Smith and Mrs. David Rode.

Blakeslee WSCS Is Entertained At Hawk Home

Blakeslee — The Blakeslee Women's Society of Christian Service met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Peter Hawk, Fern Ridge when secret pal gifts were exchanged. Mrs. Ruth Dantell led the Bible study which opened the meeting.

Two guests, Mrs. Sally Spione and Mrs. George Shotwell, were welcomed. Others present were Mrs. Lane Weller, Mrs. George Kerrick, Mrs. H. H. Kerrick, Mrs. Ruth Dantell, Mrs. William Wildrick, Mrs. Allen Walz, Mrs. Oliver Cobleigh, Mrs. Charles Serfass, Mrs. Paul Blakeslee, Mrs. A. T. Blakeslee Jr., Mrs. Robert Kelper.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hawk and her daughters, Ruth and Shirley.

Porters Lake Club Scene Of Valentine Day Wedding

Miss Olga Mowrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Mowrey of 3017 J Street, Philadelphia, became the bride of Robert H. Collins, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward W. Collins, of 2031 East Allegheny Ave., Philadelphia, in a pretty candlelight wedding ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alton "Bucky" Jones, at Porters Lake.

Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, East Stroudsburg, officiated at the single ring ceremony in the home of the stewards of Porters Lake club, Pike county.

The bride who was given in marriage by John Lindstedt wore a wine satin suit with black velvet accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. Patricia Jones, her matron of honor, wore an iridescent rose taffeta dress and a corsage of white carnations. Alton Jones served as best man.

A reception for the bridal party was held at Porters Lake club, following the wedding.

The bride has been employed in the bookkeeping department of Sears-Roebuck store in Philadelphia. She is a graduate of Temple University High school in the class of 1949.

Mr. Collins was graduated from Frankfort High school, Philadelphia, and attended Drexel Institute of Technology and Temple University. He served for 18 months in the South Pacific during World War II in the U. S. Air Force and was in the Army of Occupation in Korea. He is employed in the plumbing and heating department of the A. B. Wyckoff store in Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins plan to live at Pine Flats, Pike county. Friends witnessing the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lindstedt, of Swiftwater; Mrs. Agnes Hazen, Mrs. Jobie Davis, Gershom H. Litts, Mrs. Eva Cottoing and Leslie Carlton.

Mrs. Possinger Honor Guest Natal Party

Snydersville — Mrs. Charles Possinger was guest of honor at a party held recently at her home celebrating her birthday. A chicken dinner was enjoyed featured with a birthday cake. Mrs. Possinger received many gifts.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Francis Armitage and children, Gwen, Lynn and Beverly, of Catasauqua; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Armitage, of Roselle, N. J.; Doris Armitage and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Possinger. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Possinger, of McMichael.

To make a quick cherry sauce for a tapioca pudding use a No. 2 can of pitted sour cherries. Blend a little of the juice with a tablespoon of cornstarch until smooth; mix in the rest of the juice, the cherries, a quarter cup of sugar and a dash of salt; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly.

ITU Auxiliary Plans Supper For Saturday

The Women's auxiliary of the International Typographical union made plans for a covered dish supper this Saturday night at 6:30 in the CLU club, East Stroudsburg. Members are asked to bring their own table service, and reminded that baked ham and beans will be provided by the auxiliary.

Mrs. Emily Severson, president, presided at the meeting held Wednesday night, when a report of the recent Pennsylvania-Delaware conference in Allentown was given by Mrs. George Rung and Mrs. James Thomas.

Mrs. Rung, Mrs. Mabel Kassner and Mrs. Lucille Diehl were appointed as a committee in charge of labor education.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with red candles and hearts.

Valentine Babies Arrive In 3 Families

Three very special Valentines were delivered yesterday by Dr. Nina Mae Price of East Stroudsburg.

The first, a son weighing 9 pounds 3 ounces was born at 2 a. m. to Mr. and Mrs. Eldon D. Larsh at their home in Bushkill. The second girl, also weighing 9 pounds 3 ounces, was born at 4 a. m. to Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick Henning, of 24 East Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

At 12 noon, a daughter, weighing 8 pounds 3 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Verdon James Neyhart, of Hamilton township.

Connie Sue Kresge, Father Celebrate Birthdays Together

Swiftwater — Connie Sue Kresge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon T. Kresge, of Woodland road, celebrated her fourth birthday on February 9, which is also her father's natal day.

A family party was held Saturday night to honor the two birthdays, with television as the main attraction.

Refreshments of ice cream, candy and beverage were served to Mrs. Florence Engle, Mrs. Emma Dyson, Nancy Dyson, Harry Steele, Miss Frieda Koerner, Sheldon Kresge Jr., and Olive Jane Kresge, Connie Sue and Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Kresge.

Band Parents Cake Walk February 22

The cakewalk committee of the Stroudsburg Band Parents met this week at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Merle E. Stevenson, Thomas St., to further plan for the big Washington's Birthday affair to be held at the High School Gymnasium.

Hundreds of homemade cakes have been promised for the party for which the Stroudsburg band will play, and in addition to the cake walk there will be a bazaar, designed to interest everyone from toddler's up to grandparents.

There will be a candy and preserve booth with Mrs. A. M. Hickey in charge; an apron booth under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ernest J. Whittle; a white elephant table with a committee under Mrs. Jack Mullins—so much for the adults.

For the younger people there will be a comic book booth of used comic books with Mrs. Ernest Michelfelder in charge; and a grab bag directed by Mrs. M. J. Newman.

Everybody may enjoy the hot dog and soft drink booth being directed by Mrs. Roy Laise, and the cake walks with Harold Van Why directing.

The big benefit will begin at 7:30, and people with other engagements for that night may drop in at any time to hear the band, and patronize the bazaar and join in a cakewalk or two.

The committee assisted by John Pyle, band director and Numa Snyder, music director, will have a final meeting next Monday night following the regular PTA meeting at the school. They will meet in the band room to check final arrangements.

Juvenile Grange Meets Saturday

PETER SHARP, who celebrated his 98th birthday yesterday.

Valentine Day Marks 98th Birthday Here

Peter Sharp, of 443 Williams St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday celebrated his 98th birthday on St. Valentine's Day.

A native of Port Morris, N. J., Mr. Sharp moved to Stroudsburg in 1935 after the death of his wife Ida, to live with his son, Oscar, at the Williams St. address.

He is the only one left of a family of 12 children. His health is fairly good, although he can no longer see to read or write.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Knob of Stroudsburg left yesterday afternoon on a vacation in Florida.

Mrs. Murt Dowling, former resident of Stroudsburg, has just completed a two weeks visit with old friends here and returned to her present home in Wilkes-Barre.

Rev. and Mrs. John Bellingham and their children, Mary Ellen and John, were overnight house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff before returning to their home in Pittsburgh.

Wyckoff's Open Model Kitchen Today

Wyckoff's Modern Department store is opening a model kitchen in the linoleum department today. The kitchen features Geneva Kitchen Cabinets and Mr. Ray Burck will be in the store from 2 to 5 p. m. to explain the features of the Geneva Kitchen products. Geneva Wall Cabinets of gleaming porcelain have been installed in the model kitchen. They are shown in different sizes. A corner cabinet with glass door and revolving shelves is an innovation in the kitchen. Geneva kitchen sink with undersink cabinet, base cabinets and mixer cabinets are part of the installation. An interesting merry-go-round corner cabinet with revolving shelves is a feature of the kitchen. Work counters are covered with colorful Flor-Ever Plastic while walls are installed with Nairns congo wall. The floor is Armstrong's spatter linoleum. A Frigidaire electric range completes the arrangement. Mrs. Mackey of the electric shop will serve homemade cookies and DelRay coffee to those attending the opening from 2 to 5 p. m. this afternoon.

A model bathroom will also be opened in the linoleum department today. The bathroom features products from the Sears Plumbing departments. —adv.

New Pastor Welcomed At Bushkill

Bushkill — A neighborhood night was held in the Bushkill Dutch Reformed church to welcome the new minister, Rev. John Lackey with a program arranged by Miss Helen Cook, president of the missionary society.

She gave the opening greetings, and Alfred Smith, speaking for the congregation, presented the new pastor. Poems were given by Mrs. Horton Stettler, "Package of Seeds" and "Simple Things"; Ralph Turn Jr. sang a solo, "Shadrack"; and Mrs. Robert Irwin read an article on "The Other Abe Lincoln."

A male quartette composed of Laurence Butz, Arthur Notz, Ralph Turn Jr., and Al DeRenzi sang "Little Brown Church" and "Grandfather's Clock," with Miss Helen Turn as accompanist. Mrs. C. N. Guillot gave a humorous reading, "Deacon Slocum's Presence of Mind."

A piano solo by Al DeRenzi, and poems, "The Little Church," and "A Hunter's Tall Story," presented by Mrs. Argus Miller, were followed by two solos by Ralph Turn Jr., "I Got Plenty of Nothing" and "Anchored to My Ball and Chain."

The program was followed by a presentation of a gift to the pastor with Mrs. Edwin Bartram, and refreshments served by a committee from the Ladies' Aid society. Miss Helen Turn at the piano and Robert Irwin with his violin furnished music for the community singing.

French Toast is delicious when it has been fried in deep fat. Heat the fat to about 375°F., and fry for a minute or two, or until the batter-dipped bread is golden-brown.

How to SLEEP

Tonight—without Acid Indigestion

Take 2 TUMS at Bedtime

Now say goodbye to sleepless nights caused by acid stomach. Do as thousands do—correct the trouble by eating 1 or 2 Tums before retiring. See if you don't fall asleep faster—feel better next morning. Always keep Tums handy to counteract gas, heartburn, indigestion, pressure pains. It's a wise idea. Get a roll of Tums to have on hand tonight!

One Copenhagen restaurant has sandwich menu three feet long.

If you hear a loud hammering between every line of this column, don't blame it on the display department. Fran Meredith has nothing to do with it... it's the fault of Gracie Grace and Dottie Dunn. Here at my elbow they are banging away with staplers so that later today Wyckoff employees will have papers showing them in what section they are listed, and for whom they may vote as representatives to the Employees' Association.

My stapler is taking a terrific beating, and it serves it right too... it's that temperamental. Sometimes it has to be whacked... sometimes it demands the gentle touch. The trouble is, you never know which it wants until you find yourself with a paper that has more pins in it than a lazy woman's underlip. Oh, well... when it comes right down to it, I suppose even a stapler is entitled to a Double Life. (If you'd like to hear all about mine, listen to the Wyckoff Shopper broadcast on Monday. It would be a scandal to miss it!)

This afternoon at three there will be a showing of Wyckoff's spring fashions in the second floor Fashion Shop. Everyone is invited. Then on Saturday also at three, there will be a showing of the latest styles for girls and teen-agers. You mothers will surely wish to be in on this with your style-conscious daughters.

Thank you, Mrs. S. of East Stroudsburg, RD 3, for the gift of yarn left at the Tea Room yesterday in answer to our recent column request. I'll forward it with the contributions from my co-workers... I'm sorry that yesterday's broadcast wasn't twice as long, so much could have been said about all the beautiful spring hats. Maude Walton tells us that the Sailor is definitely in vogue. Well, what girl doesn't love a sailor? My greatest envy is the petite pretty woman who is her china-figurine best in dainty pink flowered bonnets. Being more substantial as to build, my choice must be a stunning red straw with an intricate large brim lined in red velvet. What a gorgeous consolation... Saw Nellie Burt trying her ensemble for this afternoon's show. Very nice too. Wonder if it was a Nelly Don that Nellie donned? Mrs. W. W. Newhard, 736 Main St., Stroudsburg, was the winner of a beautiful slip from Wyckoff Lingerie Dept.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High school basketball teams were on the spectator end of a cage struggle for a change on Wednesday, when they watched Lafayette take the measure of Muhlenberg, 83-74, in Easton. Several members of the varsity and junior varsity quintets from Stroudsburg made the trip, while the entire East Stroudsburg varsity was on hand to see the battle. Emmaus High, under the watchful eye of Ken Moyer, an East Stroudsburg State Teachers College graduate, was also present for the contest.

However, tonight the local cage machines return to the hardwoods, with the Cavaliers playing on the home court of Coplay, currently the number one team in the second-half race in the Lehigh-Northampton League. Stroudsburg on the other hand plays its final home game of the season tonight, when the Mountaineers entertain Whitehall, the number two club in the second-half standing of the Lehigh Valley League. Lehigh Valley inflicted the first loss of the current half on Whitehall on Tuesday, while Stroudsburg has split a pair of outings with Lehigh Valley and has defeated Whitehall in the only meeting of the two clubs thus far this season.

Frank Ciofalo was the most popular member of the East Stroudsburg High cage machine in Tuesday's game with Wilson Borough, with visiting fans that is, as Frank is a former resident of the Easton suburb. Frank Stull, Wilson's high scoring center was one of five players unable to put on a uniform for Coach Ed Snyder's crew on Tuesday. Stull and another member of the team were ill, two were ineligible because of scholastic difficulties and a fifth cut his hand badly on a broken window. However, Snyder still had enough in reserve to win the game by a 60-52 count.

Jim Carpusio, ace long distance swimmer at ESSTC prior to his graduation last June, is currently teaching swimming in the Reading YMCA. Jim's presence on this year's Normal Hill tank team is sadly missed. Carpusio was married during the Christmas holidays. The girls' basketball team of ESSTC will be putting a streak on the line today when they oppose Hunter College, in New York. The Warriors have been able to decision Hunter twice during the past two years and both times the victory margin was by only two points.

In order to keep many of his bowling companions happy, I wish to point out at this time that the 116 score rolled by Ralph "Pete" Arnold, leadoff man for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was the lowest he has rolled in 15 years. All this happened during Wednesday's rolling of the Record Major League at the Pocono Bowling Center. "Rip" Miller, assistant athletic director at the Naval Academy and a frequent visitor in this locality, was a featured guest at yesterday's meeting of the Rotary club. Miller made his football game at Notre Dame.

Francis "Chick" McLaughlin, a member of the ESSTC varsity basketball team, is doing his student teaching at Fountain Hill High, a member of the Lehigh-Northampton League, at the present time. McLaughlin is also a graduate of Fountain Hill. Marilyn Maure, one of the top feminine athletes at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, would like very much to coach girls' field hockey after graduation in June. The ESSTC honor list released recently carried a lot of names familiar to the school's athletic setup.

The list included Elizabeth Bash, field hockey; George Delong, track; Don Delp, soccer; Jim Frayley, basketball; Norman Frayley, basketball; Jim Harrison, tennis; Merlyn Jones, soccer; Bill Jones, football; Joe Maiorillo, soccer and basketball; Marilyn Maure, field hockey and basketball; Jane Moffet, field hockey and basketball; Dan Newcomer, track; Bill Schmidt, basketball; Jim Steidle, baseball, and Shirley Yeagle, basketball. This list of names only proves that brains and athletics go hand-in-hand.

At least one high school in Monroe County would like to start wrestling as a varsity sport next year. The mat action has proven very popular in the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton area. Speaking of wrestling brings to mind the fact that the ESSTC mat crew may have to face Millersville with a patched-up lineup on Saturday, when the two old rivals match holds in the Normal Hill gymnasium. Sam and Ben Everett are only two of many former Stroudsburg High athletes to take part in "Past Times," the concert scheduled for Wednesday, February 27, at the high school auditorium. All proceeds from the event will go to the Varsity "S" club, to make a spring athletic banquet possible. Alfred W. Munson, school principal, is busily working on a ski for the affair and everyone else connected with the program is working hard to insure a successful venture.

Ithaca Quintet Inflicts Tenth Loss On ESSTC 81-60

Schmidt Paces Scoring Parade For Warriors

Ithaca, N. Y. — East Stroudsburg State Teachers College went down to its tenth defeat in 13 basketball outings here last night, when Ithaca College scored an 81-60 decision over the charges of Coach Ed Shay here in Seneca gymnasium. The Warriors enabled the Bombers to split with the Warriors, as the Shymen won between the two clubs in a game played on Normal Hill in December, 61-50.

The Bombers, strengthened by the return of two regulars from service and the addition of several key performers to the varsity, were kept in check only in the first period, when the home team managed to build a 14-10 advantage during the first quarter.

After that the charges of Coach Ben Light moved out in front in a convincing manner and remained in that spot throughout the rest of the game. Ithaca held a 41-27 lead at the halfway mark, after dominating the second round, 27-17.

Big Guns
Frank Byrne and Gregory Cordones kept the ball rolling for the home club in the second half, as the Bombers thrilled the home town fans with a 17-13 advantage in the third round and a clinching 23-20 advantage during the final period.

East Stroudsburg was unable to stand the vastly improved play of Ithaca after the first period had passed into history.

The Warriors outdid the Bombers only at the foul line, making good on 16 of 21 charity shots, while Ithaca rang the bell on only 16 of 28 attempts.

Byrne and Cordones were the big guns in a winning cause, racking up 18 and 17 markers respectively. Bill Schmidt, Ed Palmer and Frank "Whitey" Whiteacre were the chief point-producers in a losing cause, with 17, 16 and 12 markers respectively.

Warriorettes Meet Hunter College

Coach Genevieve Zimbar and her East Stroudsburg State Teachers College lassies will invade the big city today, when the Warriorettes tangle with the Hunter College sextette, on the latter's home court at 695 Park Ave., in New York City.

Action is scheduled to get underway at 5 p.m.

Two Straight
ESSTC has won over Hunter for the past two seasons and is hopeful of making it three straight today. The Warriorettes will also be looking for their second win without a setback of the present campaign.

Coach Zimbar listed her starting lineup for today as Jane Moffet, Joan Givens and Carol Mosser in the forward section, while Grace Asberry, Joanne Lythgoe and Shirley Yeagle handle the guard assignments.

Beagles To Run

Kunkleton — Eldred Beagle club will hold a sanctioned field trial on Sunday, with the drawing scheduled to take place at Greenzweig's Restaurant, at 8:30 a. m. A large field of entries is expected.

Steele Honored At Annual Blue Mountain League Banquet

Tatamy—Approximately 150 people attended the annual Blue Mountain league baseball banquet here at the fire house last night, with Benny Borgmann, Muhlenberg College basketball coach and league president and guest for the St. Louis Cardinals for the past 20 years, delivered the featured address.

Borgmann was introduced by Arnon Williams, league secretary-treasurer and toastmaster, and the court and diamond figure delivered a well received, informal talk on scouting, players, baseball schools and the great summer resort in general.

The Muhlenberg coach then conducted an informal question and answer period following his talk.

Woodrow Jones, president of the league, welcomed the group to the affair and gave a quick recap of last season and what the circuit hopes to do in the 1952 campaign.

Trophies
The Daily Record presented a trophy to East Bangor as the number one team at the end of regular season play, while Jones presented the "President's Cup" to Pocono A. C. from Stroudsburg, playoff title holder.

Ray Steele, senior at East Stroudsburg High school, received a trophy as the second best hurler in the league last year, with a mark of six wins and one setback, when Mace Barnhardt, actually the second best, was ruled ineligible for the trophy because of having not played enough games.

Ray Parsons, East Bangor, was honored as the top hurler with eight wins and no setbacks. Paul Koehler, West Bangor outfielder, received a trophy as the circuit's top hitter for the third straight year, with a .418 mark. Fred Sisolak, West Bangor third baseman, was the second best hitter with a .396 mark and also received a trophy.

Honored guests introduced by Williams were "Tut" Cortez, president of the Blue Mountain Umpires association; Wally Stine, Portland; Dr. Nicholas Caserio, Roseto; George Messinger, Tatamy; Jim Riley, sports editor of The Daily Record, and John Shovling, of the Eastern Express.

Charles Gollatz, whose son was killed in a mid-air accident last summer, was presented with a life-long pass to all Blue Mountain league games by Jones. Young Gollatz was a pitcher with Stockertown at the time of his death.

The invocation was given by the Rev. F. Schaeffer. A delicious roast beef dinner followed. A film of the 1951 World Series was also shown.

Barber Shop, Pioneers Gain Cage Verdicts

Frank's Barber Shop took the measure of Trumatic Tool, 101-25, and the Pioneers won over the Lemons, 52-34, in Senior Y League action at the Monroe County YMCA yesterday.

The Barber Shop quintet ran wild in its game with Trumatic Tool, leading 37-10 at the halfway mark and bettering the century mark by one point at the final whistle.

No Doubt
Action in the second game featured the Pioneers on the long end of the count in every quarter and never was the outcome of the battle in doubt. The winning aggregation held a 25-18 advantage at the halfway mark.

Don France, Tom Bonser and Harold Lotts, all with 19 points, led the Barber Shop attack and also brought down high scoring honors for the afternoon.

Cramer's Five Nips Rival

Broadheadville — Cramer's Cut Rate, operating out of the Senior High league, proved too strong for the Broadheadville squad here on the Chestnut Hill High school court last night, 68-65.

The contest was close from start to finish, with Cramer's contingent losing a first period lead and then fighting back in the final round to pick up the verdict by three counters.

Foul Shots

St. John's Upsets Bonnies

New York, (AP)—St. John's of Brooklyn whipped St. Bonaventure, the nation's fourth ranked basketball team 59 to 56, and New York University beat Niagara, 67-56, in a doubleheader last night at Madison Square Garden. The largest turnout of the season, 16,151 paid, saw the twin bill.

Excitement
The crowd shouted itself hoarse as the Redmen came off behind a 43-37 score in the second half to hand the Bonnies their second straight defeat.

Stroudsburg Entertains Whitehall Without Fetherman; Cavaliers Journey To Coplay

Stroudsburg High plays its final basketball game of the current campaign on its home boards tonight, when the Mountaineers play host to Whitehall. At the same time East Stroudsburg will be hitting the road, to oppose a powerful Coplay five on Tuesday.

LEHIGH VALLEY LEAGUE
Standing W. L. Pct.

Stargis 1 2 .333
Palmerston 0 3 .000
Northampton 0 4 .000

At home floor, in an important Lehigh-Northampton League tussle.

The Mountaineers, looking for their third win in five second-half outings in the Lehigh Valley League, will be forced to go into the battle without the services of Captain Alden "Red" Fetherman, who suffered a painfully injured ankle against Catsaqua on Tuesday.

Stroudsburg then winds up the present campaign against Slaton, Northampton and East Stroudsburg, all on the road.

East Stroudsburg meanwhile will be going into the home of the top team in the second-half Lehigh-Northampton League flag race, when the Cavaliers invade Coplay tonight. The Cavaliers have split four second-half starts, while Coplay presents a perfect record to this point.

Coach Dick Forster's starting East Stroudsburg array will undoubtedly feature John "Juice" Arnst and Jack Tredinnick at the forward slots; Ray Steele at center and Paul "Candy" Miller and Dick Newton at the guard spots.

The Cavaliers have four more games to be played, including the Alumni, Fountain Hill and Stroudsburg at home and Pen Argyl away.

Tonight's junior varsity tussle is listed for 6:45 p.m. and the main event at approximately 8:15.

Chance
Polk, still facing a chance of tying for third place in the standing, tangles with Barrett, the number two club, on the former's home court at Broadheadville.

Pocono and Coolbaugh wind up the present campaign on the Pocono High court, at Tannersville.

In all cases the junior varsity struggle begins at 7:15 p.m. and the main event approximately one hour later.

At a meeting of the Pocono Mountain Ski club in the Penn-Stroud hotel members discussed several methods for raising funds to be used by the organization.

One of the projects benefitting from these increased funds would be a proposed "ski lodge" to be built by the club.

Affairs
Among the possible fund-raising affairs is a "gala formal dance" with the general public invited and a "theater-in-the-round production" to be brought in "as soon as a play has been chosen."

Both affairs, according to club sources, would be held at the Penn-Stroud.

Greene-Dreher Plays Host To Honesdale

Newfoundland—Honesdale High school's Hornets will oppose the Greene-Dreher-Sterling eagles here tonight in the local school's annual Booster Night attraction.

Special between-game ceremonies will feature the 60-piece Greene-Dreher-Sterling band, under the direction of Harold Wild, and the school's corp of baton twirlers in special routines. Advance sale of tickets indicates that a full complement of fans will witness the affair.

Following the jayvee clash, which gets underway at 8 p. m., and the intermission spectacle, the charges of Coach Henry "Hank" Arneberg will get down to the serious business of squaring matters with the Honesdale club, a 47-43 victor in an earlier clash. The Hornets hold down second place in the Wayne County Basketball Conference standings with an 8-2 record while the Stags are fifth place occupants at the moment with three victories and four unfavorable decisions.

Faint Hopes

Honesdale must win to keep alive the faintest hopes of catching the high-flying Waymart crew. A Hornet loss combined with a Waymart (11-1) win against "mascus (1-9) would give the "arkeeters their third consecutive WCC crown.

In other games, Moscow (4-3), 47-41 winners over Hawley Tuesday night, will meet Lake Township (4-7) and Pleasant Mount, Tuesday victor over the Lakers, 51-49, will be at Hawley (4-7).

Bangor At Home With Pen Argyl

Bangor—Bangor and Pen Argyl tangle in a Lehigh-Norhampton League basketball game here tonight on the Slaters' home court. The junior varsity action is scheduled to get underway at 6:45 and the main event at approximately 8:15 p.m.

One Win

Tonight's tussle will be the second of the current campaign between the two rivals, with Bangor being one game up at the present time.

Bangor's starting lineup will probably feature Asa Pysher and Joe D'Imperio at the forward berth, Jim Rowlands at center, and Joe Heard and Bob Egbert at the guard spots.

Lawrence Wins First Gold Medal Of Winter Olympic Games In Women's Giant Slalom Run

Oslo (AP)—America's 19-year-old wizard of the flashing skis, Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence, sped to victory in the women's giant slalom race yesterday to send the United States off to a roaring start in the sixth winter Olympic Games.

The lean young housewife from Rutland, Vt., streaked down Norefjell's twisting, hazardous 1,640 yard precipice in two minutes and 6.8 seconds to outclass 44 of the world's finest feminine skiers from 15 countries.

It was the first gold medal of these famous snow and ice games and it topped off America's greatest Olympic ski showing in history.

Katy Rodolph, a 21-year-old beauty from Denver University, was fifth in the final official ratings and Jannette Burr of Seattle, Wash., one of the advance favorites, was twentieth although she missed one of the control gates and had to back up and try again.

Dagmar Rom, a comely 23-year-old movie actress from Innsbruck, Austria, was second in 2:09, followed by the German housewife, Mrs. Anne Marie Buchner, in 2:10.

Cheering Mrs. Lawrence on as she wove her way brilliantly down the wooded mountainside, swirling through the 59 control gates like a gifted ballerina, was America's only other Olympic ski champion, Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, now manager of the women's team.

Second Place

On another sleek-coated hillside near here, America's daring two-man bobsledders finished second to Germany's favored world champions after the first two heats of a four-heat championship.

The final two heats are scheduled today, along with the men's giant slalom ski race and four hockey games, but there appears little hope of catching Germany's great sledder, Andreas Ostler.

Ostler and his brakeman, Lorenz Nieberl, streaked down the 1,500-meter (metric mile) Frogteteren bobsled run in one minute, 20.76 seconds on the first trip and 1:21.64 on the second to hang up a halfway total of 2:42.40.

The first run set a course record for the new icy track, built at a cost of $112,000.

The United States' number one sled of Stan Benham of Lake Placid, N. Y., and Pat Martin of Massena, N. Y., was second with a total time of 2:44.15, representing runs of 1:22.43 and 1:22.12. The number two American sled, driven by Fred Fortune of Lake Placid, N. Y., and backed by Floyd Wisner of Ausable Forks, N. Y., was seventh with times of 1:23.46 and 1:24.48 for 2:47.94.

Switzerland's number two sled, driven by Felix Endrich, held third place, followed by the Swiss number two sled, piloted by the veteran Fritz Feierabend, and Belgium's number one, with Marcel Leclerc at the controls.

U. S. sledgers praised the daring and speed of the Germans and conceded an American victory is possible only if Ostler doesn't make mistakes, "a U. S. official warned.

The bobsrun started with a certain amount of tension. Workmen have been instructed to cut narrow, shallow grooves at the start to give the brakemen better footing as they pushed their sleds away. Instead they dug wide, deep trenches in the ice.

The bobsledders blew their tops. Some muttered darkly of "poor sportsmanship" and foul play at the crossroads. But the willing if somewhat misguided workmen filled in the cuts with snow, and wet it down.

Lions Trip Tigers, 26-16

A second half spurt enabled the Lions to win over the Tigers in a Ramsey School league game played yesterday on the school's court, 26-16.

The Tigers deduced the Lions at the end of the first period, 6-6, and the ultimate loser was out in front at halftime, 12-10.

High Gear

However, the Lions rolled into high gear in the second half, picking up eight points in each of the third and fourth periods, while the losing Tigers were able to register only two markers in the third and fourth rounds respectively.

Lived in Your Home
a Long Time? Accumulated a Whole Lot of Odds and Ends?

Soon be spring house cleaning time?

That's the time to take inventory. Why not do a thorough job of it this year? Start in the attic and finish with the cellar. Throw out the things that you know have no value.

Make a list of those things which no longer fit in with the scheme of things at your house.

Then with this list either call or come to The Daily Record, where an ad taker will help you make up a Want Ad which will sell these unwanted things of yours to people who may be looking for just the items you no longer have use for.

It will bring you money you never expected to get and help along with your budget. Yes—it is as easy as that.

Phone The Daily Record—Stbg. 320

Ask for an ad taker. You will do two things: Sell the merchandise and line your purse with unexpected money.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Section 2 of the Act of June 25, 1947, P. L. 1145, as amended by the Act of May 9, 1949, P. L. 508, that the Council of the Borough of East Stroudsburg, Pa., intends to adopt an Ordinance levying a $5.00 per capita tax for Borough purposes at a meeting to be held on the fourth day of March, 1952.

The imposition of the said tax is necessitated by reason of the increased operating and capital expenditures of the Borough.

It is estimated that $12,000.00 will be derived from said tax.

By Order of the Council of the Borough of East Stroudsburg:

STERLING CRAMER, Secretary
